

The requested frequencies will be used to support intervehicle communication and coordination during severe weather research. The primary government grant supported by this research is NSF-ATM-0724381, the Verification of the Origin of Rotation in Tornadoes Experiment (VORTEX2), preliminary testing and follow up mobile experiments.