

MOTOROLA

EXHIBIT 1

This license will be used for the purpose of testing combinations of various cellular hardware and software developments on a non-interference basis under actual field conditions. It is requested that the emission designator not be defined in order that this license may be used to test alternative technologies as defined under title 47, part 22.930.