Pursuant to FCC rule part 25 section 25.129, which indicates that as a device that does not support an ancillary terrestrial component (ATC), the Globalstar Satellite Data/Voice Modem (SDVM) does not require certification under 25.149(c). Qualcomm has been notified by Nemko USA that this device does not require certification, and that Qualcomm is requesting that this device does receive certification since we are contractually obligated to obtain certification by our customers.

Sincerely,
