Statement Regarding Timing of Filing

This application is filed to address the involuntary change of control of Affinity Network Incorporated ("Affinity"), NOS Communications, Inc. ("NOS") and NOSVA Limited Partnership ("NOSVA"), (collectively the "Licensees") from Samuel P. Delug to The Samuel P. Delug Living Trust. Mr. Delug, the long-time owner and, since 2006, the controller of the Licensees, died on January 5, 2026. Upon his death, the voting and equity interests that Mr. Delug held in the Licensees (the "Interests") automatically vested in the Trust pending disposition of his estate.

Applicants regret that they did not timely submit this filing consistent with Commission rules. They understand that prior approval is required for the transfer of the Interests to Mr. Delug's trust beneficiaries and will file for such approval as the details for that transfer become available. Unfortunately, Applicants did not realize that the auto-vesting of the Interests in Mr. Delug's trust, which appeared to reflect corporate continuity pending the estate disposition, required a filing with the Commission, especially as the vesting of Interests in the Trust was not accompanied by any changes at all to the Licensees' management or operations. Applicants learned only recently that the vesting of the Interests in the Trust does in fact require Commission approval, leading to this filing. Applicants recognize and agree that timely compliance with Commission requirements is essential, but note that the change of Interest-holding and the belatedness of this particular filing have not had an adverse effect upon the Licensees' customers or the public generally. Regardless of the anticipated materiality, however, Applicants commit that in future they will be proactively diligent in confirming whether corporate or other types of changes may require a timely filing with the Commission.
